LETTER FROM GREG ABBOTT
APPRECIATION
FOR DEDICATION

December 9, 2011

The Honorable Rick Perry, Governor
The Honorable David Dewhurst, Lieutenant Governor
The Honorable Joe Straus III, Speaker of the House

When Texans are affected by violent crime, the Office of the Attorney General works diligently with a network of professionals to advocate and minimize the effects of the crime on victims. The mission of the Crime Victim Services Division (CVSD) is to assist in the compassionate and effective delivery of crime victim services by offering information, resources, funding and education to crime victims and the organizations that assist them. CVSD could not accomplish this mission without the support and dedication of the victim services community, which includes criminal justice professionals, prosecution and probation officers, medical and mental health providers, and nonprofit victim advocates.

When violent crime occurs, in many cases local advocates are among the first to respond. During this initial encounter, advocates provide hope and guidance to victims in the aftermath of a crime. This year we would like to recognize the importance of advocacy and the role that advocates play throughout the recovery of those affected by crime. Advocates across Texas work every day to be of service while empowering victims as they navigate through the criminal justice process.

Advocates work in a variety of capacities, including legal assistance, counseling, and accompaniment during forensic evidence collection and court appointments. Advocates also assist victims in completing the Crime Victims' Compensation application so that the financial burden associated with crime victimization does not further traumatize victims.

Victim advocates comprise a network of individuals who work to coordinate benefits for those affected by violent crime in an effort to provide comprehensive services. Applications for crime victim compensation submitted by advocates on behalf of victims and claimants are often more complete, which results in faster processing and quicker reimbursements for victims.

Last year, the Victims of Crime Fund received 37,528 applications and awarded $75.5 million in compensation on behalf of victims. CVSD and the Attorney General's Grants Administration Division distributed $36 million in grants to organizations that provide advocacy work such as emergency shelter, crisis counseling, court accompaniment, and other crime victim services.

Supporting advocates and the work they do continues to be a top priority for CVSD. We recognize the hard work that is being done around the state by advocates on behalf of those affected by violent crime and would like to applaud their good work. By working together, we will continue to strive to provide exceptional victim services to those affected by crime and our partners who work tirelessly on their behalf.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Greg Abbott". The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first name "Greg" and last name "Abbott" clearly distinguishable.

Greg Abbott
Attorney General of Texas

APPRECIATION FOR DEDICATION

The Office of the Attorney General (OAG) and the Crime Victim Services Division (CVSD) would like to recognize and extend its gratitude to the countless advocates who make a difference in the lives of those affected by violence in Texas. Without the commitment and perseverance of these dedicated professionals, victims of crime often experience additional trauma in the aftermath of a violent crime. Advocates move victims toward healing and serve as their voice as they navigate through complex systems. The work advocates do for victims not only helps them in their recovery, but also aids in the successful delivery of services and coordination of benefits.

The mission of the CVSD is to assist in the compassionate and effective delivery of crime victim services by offering information, resources and education to crime victims and the organizations that assist them. This mission could not be accomplished without the help of our advocate partners. Victim advocates from our nonprofit community centers and governmental agencies statewide are instrumental on the local level for victim recovery and for the work done in Crime Victim Services. Advocacy, through calm and nonjudgmental listening, believing, offering guidance on the CVC process, and making referrals when needed is a cornerstone of the Crime Victims' Compensation (CVC) Program and continues to be a guiding principle of our work as we evolve to meet the ever-changing needs of crime victims in Texas.

The partnership between system-based victim service providers (advocates in law enforcement and prosecutors' offices) and community-based victim service providers (advocates from nonprofit agencies) is crucial to providing seamless support for victims. Although the preferred top priority for victim service providers is "putting victims first," how that is accomplished may depend on the agency and job description.

System-based providers, those advocates working within the criminal justice system, have as their goal to balance the needs of the victim within the confines of the law and agency policy. Community-based providers, those advocates working in non-governmental or nonprofit agencies such as domestic violence or sexual assault crisis centers, child advocacy centers, or support/resource agencies like MADD or homicide support groups, focus on crime victims' personal needs and concerns. Both groups of advocates have policies that mandate victim safety and support, assistance with CVC, ensuring notification of victims' rights, and providing information on the impact of crime, the criminal justice process and how to navigate the journey. The Crime Victim Services Division appreciates the unique role of both system and community advocates.

Crime Victim Liaisons (CVL), legislatively mandated system-based advocates housed in law enforcement offices, are often the first advocates to respond to a crime victim. They set the tone with a victim or family member regarding how a victim is treated by the justice system, how the investigative process progresses, how victims are believed and assisted, as well as provide connections for the victim with community nonprofit advocates.

APPRECIATION FOR DEDICATION

As victims move out of the acute phase of a violent crime, victim advocates continue to assist them with resources and accessing their rights. If a crime was reported, investigated and verified, a crime victim liaison will transition a victim to work with a Victim Assistance Coordinator (VAC), a legislatively mandated advocate in a prosecutor's office. The community-based advocate will often be the bridge and the consistent source of support for a victim during this process.

As a community-based advocate, the choices a victim makes are to be honored. This may include supporting a position not shared by the advocate, such as deciding not to report a crime to law enforcement or to forgive (or not) a perpetrator. Often the job includes accompaniment with or intervening on behalf of a victim in multiple settings (e.g., at the scene of a crime, in health care settings during a sexual assault medical forensic exam, at a law enforcement agency or a prosecutor's office) for the purposes of assisting with the CVC application, facilitating information gathering, and securing updates on case status if a case is reported to law enforcement, and ensuring that victims and employers understand crime victims' rights. The professionalism of those advocates and the mutual respect for their uniquely valuable services makes the experience for victims more empowering.

When there is a positive working relationship established between a CVL, a VAC and their local nonprofit agency, like a domestic violence center or sexual assault center, the victim benefits from their collaboration, and the justice process is less traumatizing and more likely to result in a thorough investigation and fair case outcome. Their partnership also works on behalf of the victim when working with the CVC program in securing the documents and information necessary to process a claim in the most timely manner, thus reducing the secondary trauma that may result from unanticipated financial burdens.

The CVSD supports and applauds the efforts of crime victim liaisons, victim assistance coordinators, and victim service providers from all our nonprofit support agencies working tirelessly to mitigate the impact of crime for those on whose behalf they work. .

The OAG is honored to work hand-in-hand with advocates who provide vital support to crime victims throughout the state and who work so closely with the CVC Program, and the CVSD via the hundreds of local and statewide victim assistance programs funded by the OAG.

CVC FUND HISTORY & HIGHLIGHTS

APPRECIATION

In 1979, the Texas Legislature passed the Crime Victims' Compensation Act, creating the Compensation to Victims of Crime Fund (Fund) and the Crime Victims' Compensation (CVC) Program. The primary purpose of the Fund is to encourage greater victim participation in the apprehension and prosecution of criminals and to reimburse innocent victims for certain out-of-pocket expenses incurred as a result of violent crime.

The program was administered initially by the Texas Industrial Accident Board, later known as the Workers' Compensation Commission. At this point, the Office of the Attorney General (OAG) was only involved in the verification of claims. In 1991, the Legislature moved the administrative authority for the program entirely to the OAG in order to centralize claim processing.

The majority of the revenue for the Fund comes directly from convicted felony and misdemeanor offenders in the form of court costs and other fees. In early 1993, the financial soundness of the Fund was jeopardized when requests for victim compensation exceeded the amount of funds received from court costs and fees. As statutorily required, the OAG must adjust awards and payments so that the amount of awards granted does not exceed the amount of money credited to the Fund that year. CVC was forced to reduce compensation payments to service providers by 40 percent. In 1993, legislation was passed that substantially increased the amount of court costs and fees going into the Fund. Within one year, CVC was financially able to reimburse victim service provider payments at 100 percent. As a result of the increase in court costs and fees, the Fund balance began to increase, exceeding the amount needed to reimburse crime victims and resulting in a surplus. As the balance in the Fund steadily increased, the Legislature expanded crime victim compensation benefits and raised the maximum claim award amount. In 1997, the Fund became a constitutionally-dedicated account that can be used only for the purpose of providing victim-related compensation or assistance. Also in 1997, the 75th Legislature amended the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure to authorize the appropriation of monies from the Compensation of Victims of Crime Fund for grants and contracts supporting victim-related services or assistance. That same legislative session the first appropriation from the Fund was made for the purpose of providing grants and contracts supporting victim-related services or assistance. The OAG received an appropriation of $1 million from the Fund for the purpose of providing a grant to the statewide organization for the Court Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) Program.

In 1999, the Legislature appropriated monies from the Fund to provide grants for victim liaisons and coordinators, sexual assault prevention and crisis services programs, and Children's Advocacy Centers.

In 2001, the Legislature added an appropriation from the Fund to the OAG for the purpose of providing grants to a broad range of victim-related service organizations. Victim services such as domestic violence shelters, rape crisis centers, hotlines, victim advocacy, and education were made available as a result of these grants.

However, beginning with the 2002-03 biennium, legislative appropriations from the Fund began to exceed revenues. Recognizing that this practice could lead to potential fund solvency issues, the 2007 Legislature enacted legislation that provided an increase in annual revenue to the Fund. This increase included the first $10 million per year in revenue generated from inmate phone calls within the Inmate Pay Telephone Service Program and 50 percent of any additional revenue over $10 million from inmate phone calls. In March 2009, the Texas Department of Criminal Justice initiated a pilot program in selected facilities. Inmate phone calls generated $4,509,686.15 in revenue during Fiscal Year 2010 and $6,057,132.261 in revenue during Fiscal Year 2011.

During the 2009 legislative session, additional measures were taken to help ensure the solvency of the Fund. Legislation was enacted allowing for the transfer of unclaimed restitution from the Compensation to Victims of Crime Auxiliary Fund to the Fund. The Legislature also authorized counties to sell unclaimed criminal trial exhibits with 50 percent of the proceeds to be deposited in the Fund.

Additionally, the 81st Legislature expanded crime victim expenses that are eligible for reimbursement. House Bill 2626 provided adult sexual assault victims who have not filed a police report the right to obtain a forensic medical exam. Evidence collected is sent to the Department of Public Safety (DPS) and stored for a maximum of two years. DPS pays the medical facility for the exam and seeks reimbursement from the CVC Program. Senate Bill 808 and House Bill 2916 provide for reimbursement of pecuniary loss arising from homicides occurring before January 1, 1980, if the identity of the victim was established by a law enforcement agency on or after January 1, 2009.

At the beginning of the 82nd legislative session, the state was facing a $23 billion budget deficit for the Fiscal Year 2012 and Fiscal Year 2013 biennium. Many state agencies were concerned about considerable reductions in their agency budgets including the possibility of reducing or eliminating funding for state services. Based upon current projections, the CVC Fund could be confronted with a serious shortfall as early as Fiscal Year 2013. A significant factor contributing to this deficit is declining revenue from court fees imposed upon defendants in criminal cases—because these fees constitute approximately 86% of the Fund's state revenue. Further, the Fiscal Year 2012-2013 budget utilized CVC Fund dollars to increase direct appropriations from the Fund to specific crime victim services organizations and state agencies. The OAG is committed to monitoring the solvency of the Fund in order to ensure that victims of crime are provided the benefits that they often rely upon as their only source of assistance when recovering from the aftermath of violent crime.

CVC REVENUE SOURCES

The Crime Victims' Compensation (CVC) program is supported through a legislative appropriation from the Compensation to Victims of Crime Fund (the Fund). The passage of the Crime Victims' Compensation Act in 1979 reflected the Legislature's intent for the Fund -- to assist innocent victims of violent crime and to encourage greater public cooperation in the investigation and prosecution of criminals. The Fund represents public policy at its best: revenue for the Fund is collected from offenders through criminal court costs, fees and fines, while victims of violence are assisted with expenses related to the crime.

The Fund receives revenue from the following sources:

State Court Costs

CVC receives 37.6338 percent of all consolidated court costs submitted to the comptroller by local governmental entities for felony and misdemeanor convictions. The calculated amount of court costs received by type of conviction:*

- Felony Conviction = $50.05
- Class A or B Misdemeanor Conviction = $31.24
- Class C Misdemeanor Conviction = $15.05

Federal VOCA Grant

The federal Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) allows the collection of fines, fees and forfeitures for federal convictions. Passed in 1984, VOCA has awarded grants to the Texas CVC since 1986. These grants are based on a formula that gives each state an amount equal to 60 percent of the state funds paid to victims two years prior.

Restitution

Offenders may be ordered to reimburse the Fund for compensation payments made on behalf of those they have victimized. CVC staff provides local prosecutors with information on the amount of money that has been paid so that reimbursement to the Fund can be included in restitution orders. Changes to the laws governing restitution allow for a one-time fee of $12 to be assessed on an offender who pays restitution in installments. Half of this fee is deposited into the Fund, and the other half is retained by the local court that assessed the restitution.

A judge may require an offender to pay a one-time fee up to $50 for misdemeanors and up to $100 for felonies to the Fund. Prior to September 1, 2005, this fee was deposited into the General Revenue Fund.

Parolee Supervision Fee Offenders on parole for crimes that occurred after September 1, 1993, pay $8 per month to the Fund. The state's parole officers are to be commended for their efforts to collect these fees from parolees.

Donations

Jurors are provided information about the Fund and are offered the option to donate their daily reimbursement to the Fund.

Subrogation

By statute, the attorney general must ask that the victim or claimant reimburse the Fund for the amount paid on behalf of the victim, up to the amount of the civil award when a crime victim is awarded money in a civil suit.

CVC PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The Crime Victims' Compensation (CVC) program is administered by the Office of the Attorney General (OAG) and is dedicated to providing victims of violent crime financial assistance for certain crime-related expenses. State law establishes that the victims of crime fund is the payer of last resort and requires the OAG to establish whether other collateral sources are available to a victim or claimant, such as health insurance, Medicaid, Medicare, auto insurance or workers' compensation insurance coverage. CVC program staff work with victims and claimants to coordinate available resources to minimize "out of pocket" costs incurred as the result of crime victimization.

To be eligible for the CVC program, a person must:

- Be a U.S. resident who becomes a victim of crime in Texas or a Texas resident who becomes a victim of crime in another state or country without a compensation program;
- Report the crime to a law enforcement agency in a timely manner to allow for investigation and prosecution of the crime;
- Continue to cooperate with law enforcement as needed, and
- File a CVC application within three years of the date of the crime.

To qualify for the CVC program, a person must:

- Be an innocent victim of crime who suffers physical or emotional harm, or death;
- Be a dependent of the victim;
- Be an authorized individual acting on behalf of the victim;
- Be an individual who has legally or voluntarily assumed the obligations to pay certain expenses related to the crime on behalf of the victim;
- Be an immediate family or household member related by blood or marriage who requires counseling as a result of the crime; or
- Be a peace officer, firefighter or individual who has a duty to protect the public and who is injured as a result of violent crime.

Compensation:

For crimes occurring on or after September 1, 1997, claims may be approved for reimbursement up to a total of $50,000.

Crime victims who suffer total and permanent disability as a result of a crime may qualify for an additional reimbursement of up to $75,000 to be used for specific and limited expenses, such as prosthetics, rehabilitation or accessibility renovations.

Financial assistance is contingent upon the applicant providing necessary and required documentation and is bound by certain laws in effect during the time the crime occurred.

Victims and claimants may be awarded the following benefits:

- Medical, hospital, physical therapy or nursing care expenses related to the crime
- Psychiatric care or counseling
- One-time relocation assistance for victims of family violence
- One-time relocation assistance for victims of sexual assault, if the crime occurred in their place of residence
- Loss of support
- Loss of earnings
- Travel expenses for crime related travel
- Funeral and burial expenses
- Care of a child or dependent
- Crime scene cleanup
- Items seized by law enforcement
- Attorney fees

Applying for compensation:

Every law enforcement agency and prosecutor's office in Texas is required by statute to provide victims of crime with information about the Crime Victims' Compensation Program. Applications are also available at hospitals and nonprofit agencies that work with crime victims.

Applications are available in English and Spanish and can be obtained directly from the CVC Program or on the OAG website at www.texasattorneygeneral.gov.

CVC program staff is available to assist victims and their families in accessing information about the program and the application process.

The total number of applications approved, reviewed or denied may not equal the number of applications received. For example, claims received in the latter part of August 2011 may not be reviewed or approved until September 2011 (the first month of Fiscal Year 2012) and therefore would be included in next year's report. The same explanation applies to award payments, which in some cases may extend over several years.

GRANTS ADMINISTRATION DIVISION OVERVIEW

In cooperation with the Texas Legislature, the Office of the Attorney General (OAG) provides vital support to crime victims throughout the state by awarding grants and contracts to hundreds of local and statewide victim assistance programs. Working in partnership with law enforcement agencies, prosecutors' offices, state agencies and local and statewide nonprofit organizations, the OAG continues to focus on minimizing the physical and emotional trauma experienced by children and adults who are victims of crime. Through these grant awards, the OAG demonstrates a commitment to cultivating an environment where the needs of crime victims are expediently identified and effectively met in communities of varying size.

The Texas Code of Criminal Procedure, Article 56.541, authorizes the OAG to use monies appropriated from the Compensation to Victims of Crime Fund for grants and contracts supporting victim-related services or assistance. The OAG administers the following eight victim assistance grant programs as authorized by the Legislature:

- Other Victim Assistance Grants (OVAG)
- Victim Coordinator and Liaison Grants (VCLG)
- Sexual Assault Prevention and Crisis Services Program (SAPCS)
- Statewide Automated Victim Notification System (SAVNS)
- Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA)
- Children's Advocacy Centers (CAC)
- Crime Victim Civil Legal Services Grants (CVCLS)
- Sexual Assault Services Program Grant (TAASA)

In Fiscal Year (FY) 2011, the OAG awarded $36,022,728 to organizations that provide essential victim services in the State of Texas. In addition, the OAG utilized a total of $2,107,690 (5.53 percent) in administrative costs for the oversight and administration of funds appropriated in the Victims Assistance Strategy.* These direct and indirect administrative costs include salaries, travel and operating expenses.

Audit & Oversight Activities

All programs are carefully monitored to ensure the effective use of dollars awarded to the local and statewide programs. The OAG performs one or more monitoring procedures for all grantees in order to achieve 100 percent audit and oversight compliance. These procedures include monitoring monthly invoices, financial status reports, annual or single audits, quarterly performance reports, and other equally strict monitoring and oversight activities as dictated in the contracts with those entities. Additionally, the OAG conducts desk reviews, on-site monitoring visits and provides technical assistance via telephone, email and in person.

Registered users are contacted by phone or email whenever there is a change in an offender's status. The users may also check on an offender's status at any time by phone or through the website. Trained operators are available at all times to assist if needed.
